

Andrei Turns 100 – Germany Tour 2026

One of the last survivors of Buchenwald concentration camp turns 100

Andrei Iwanowitsch Moiseenko, one of the last living survivors of Buchenwald concentration camp, turns one hundred on May 1, 2026. To mark his birthday, a Germany tour takes place from April to May 2026: film screenings, school visits, eyewitness conversations, and a grand birthday matinée on May 1 at the German National Theatre Weimar.

Andrei was born in 1926 in Ukraine. At the age of 15, he was taken to Leipzig for forced labor at HASAG, Saxony's largest armaments factory. In 1944, he was deported to Buchenwald concentration camp. Today he lives in Minsk, Belarus, still rides his bicycle, and meets every person with curiosity.

In December 2025, Andrei attended the 25th anniversary celebration of the Foundation Remembrance, Responsibility and Future (Stiftung EVZ) in Berlin and met Federal President Frank-Walter Steinmeier.

The first documentary "Yes, Andrei Iwanowitsch" (70 min., 2018, directed by Hannes Farlock & Sinie Gory, camera: Dzianis Sakalouski) is now available for free on YouTube for the first time. A new film – "Everything I Ever Wanted Was Everything" – is in production.

Our cameraman Dzianis Sakalouski – once named Belarus' best cinematographer, a former political prisoner – passed away in Berlin in February 2026.
